White River

Matador Man
Do It Again
African Night Sky
Fiorella
Tilbury Fort

Majestic Mambo

No

For me - always

Yakeen

Gold Standard - 117 MR - what a joke NHA
Secret Potion

TILBURY FORT - mystery !

African Night Sky - I don't think 57kg is too much for him to handle. My concern is can the jockey handle the pressure particularly if there's no pace.

Exclusive Silva - I'm convinced Mr Faydherbe will ride him for luck ...from behind , Marinaresco style

Secret Potion - I would like to see her placed very handily, early on White River - I'm hoping the gelding op has now 'kicked in' to his head. Based on that, his my 1st choice.

Do it Again - It's my opinion that he was ridden just a bit to handy last time. My 2nd choice

Race 8

Sorceress

Captain Courteous
Q The Music
Founding Father

Bold Coast
KAZAAR

Yes

No

Bold Coast

Is Kazaar as good on Polytrack as he is on grass ... He has a AR of 92.
Dark Moon Rising, running in the July, is rated 90.

Will the polytrack suit Bold Coast ?

I'll chance my arm with a BIG win bet on Sorceress, but only if I'm NOT chasing pavements, by this time.

Founding Father looks best suited to the Polytrack.

Race 9

SNOWDANCE
Neptune's Rain

The Secret Is Out

Gimme Six (3)

(3) - Excellent prep run, is it good enough ?

The only way Snowdance doesn't "show up" is if she's suffering from a tooth ache or she gets out of the wrong side of the bed on Saturday morning.

I was hoping that the Garden Province would not form part of the PA or Pick 6 as I am a sadist. (no sexual connotation)

Matador Man - my best outsider, by far.

Visually, due to him finishing strongly in his last few starts, he gives the impression that he wants this 2 200m...I'm not so sure though. Still, my 3rd choice

Coral Fever - What a joke of a AR rating = 118 by NHA. Did he horse win the Arc de Triomphe?

Tilbury Fort - I just can't ignore this horse even with a 20 draw . This was my outsider for last years race, so I'm giving him a place chance again.

Fiorella - Slow run race or not, her last run was more than decent ! Looks gutsy, I like her above 9 others
